The Work of The Jesuits

By Brian Donovan

With the Reformation of Europe just beginning due to Martin Luther’s nailing of his 95 Theses to the church door at Wittenberg in 1517, the Satanic Roman Catholic Church put together the military arm of her worldwide political power in the name of the Society of the Jesuits in 1534. Given legitimacy by Alessandro Farnese, alias Pope Paul III, the founder, Ignatius Loyola, became the first Jesuit Superior General of the order. Working behind the scenes and professing complete loyalty to the Pope, the Jesuits gave the Roman Catholic Church the strong arm it needed at a time when Europe was being brought out of the Dark Age stranglehold of the previous one thousand years. Loyola wrote his “Spiritual Exercises”, teaching his followers they must render “complete obedience to the Superior General, whoever he may be”, make “every sacrifice of conviction” to the order, along with “voluntary renunciation of individual judgment”, and especially a “corpse-like obedience”.

At the beginning of his career, he never bathed, wore rags and undergarments with small thorns as his penance, but as the order grew and the Jesuits influenced the wealthy and ruling classes, he taught that his soldiers should wear richer garb in order to fit in with the elite that they were deceiving. Eventually, through the philosophic writings of Abelard, Aquinas, Albertus Magnus and others, the Jesuits adopted the idea that the “end justifies the means”. Noted for their veiled deceptions, the Jesuits taught that even Christ used duplicity in John 7:8 when He told his disciples that He would not go up to the feast, but then later went. Employing the philosophy that “nothing in life is absolutely certain”, so that we only “have strong possibilities” in the moral realm, their work included stealing, “as long as it was not too much”, adultery, “as long as it was only vanity”, and murder, as long as it was in

The Future Of America

By Dr. Peter S. Ruckman

“And at what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to build and to plant it; If it do evil in my sight, that it obey not my voice, then I will repent of the good, wherewith I said I would benefit them” (Jer. 18:9–10).

“Shall I not visit them for these things? saith the LORD: shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?” (Jer. 9:9).

If you read your Bible much, you know that the Old Testament deals, primarily, with nations and the New Testament deals, primarily, with individuals. In the texts above, the Holy Ghost tells you how the Lord deals with nations that live like hell. In Jeremiah 18:9–10, God says He will change His mind about blessing a country that disobeys His words and “do evil in my sight.” In other words, God Almighty isn't going to bless any nation that lives the way America has been living the past, say, 67 years.

In Jeremiah 9:9, the Lord asks a question that I want to put to you and see just how much of a good American you really are. He says, “shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?” God says, “If you were I, would you put up with a nation living like the devil after I blessed it like I have?”

Modern Americans have been told “God is love” so much that they can't conceive of a God of vengeance, but it's all through that Bible. Look up Deuteronomy 32:35, 41, 43; Psalm 58:10, 94:1, 99:8, 149:7; Isaiah 34:8, 35:4, 47:3, 59:17, 61:2, 63:4; Jeremiah 11:20, 20:12, 46:10, 50:15, 28, 51:6, 11:36; Ezekiel 25:14, 17; Micah 5:15; Nahum 1:2; Luke 21:22; Romans 3:5, 12:19; 2 Thesalonians 1:8, Hebrews 10:30; and Jude 7, and READ THEM! Learn more Bible than three words out of one verse in 1 John 4:8.

God Almighty is “King of nations” (Jer. 10:7), and He gives you example after example in the Old Testament of how God deals with nations. He tells you how He deals with Moab, Ammon, Edom, Babylon, Persia, Greece, Rome, Philistia, Egypt, and Israel. Well, America is a nation. What is God going to do with it?

Over in Isaiah 40:15, the Lord says, “Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket.” In that same chapter, verse 17, He says they “are as nothing”; but He goes even further in the same verse and says they are “less than nothing” to Him. So in God's estimation, America (one of the “all nations”) doesn't even amount to a zero. It's in the minus category: “less than nothing.”

So the nations can know what is going to happen to them. They may pretend they don't know, but they can know how God will deal with them. America can know what God is going to do to it. It's found in the Book its Supreme Court threw out of the federal schools back in 1963. If America is ignorant of God's dealings with it, it is willful ignorance because it has gotten away from the Book.

The first thing I want to say about the future of this country is, only intellectuals in a nation can keep its citizens from knowing what is going to happen to them. As a common, ordinary person, it is easy to find out what God will do to this country: just pick up a dime-store Bible (AV 1611) and READ it and BELIEVE it (1 Thess. 2:13). The problem is, the college-educated crowd has talked Americans out of their faith in the Book.

“For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God” (1 Cor. 1:21). The way the world gets around knowing God is by higher education. In the world, love of wisdom is known as philosophy (Gk.: phileo—love; sophia—wisdom), as in a Ph.D.—a doctor of philosophy. That is one of three things a Christian is supposed to beware in Colossians 2:8.

The problem is God’s wisdom and man’s wisdom are two different things. For instance, take Isaiah 5:21—“Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes.” How so? Look at the verse right before it: “Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil” (Isa. 5:20). The Lord said of this bunch in Jeremiah 4:22—“they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge.” A college education is designed to turn you away from what’s right and what God said in His word. It’s made to get you thinking that everything the Bible says is true and right, is wrong and repressive; and everything that Book says is evil and wicked and a lie, is “science” (1 Tim. 6:20) and the right thing to do and believe.

If you listen to these brilliant intellectuals, you will wind up in Hell. That Bible says in Jeremiah 17:5, “Cursed be the man that trusteth in man.” In the very next verse, it says if you do, you’ll “inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land and not inhabited.” Where’s that? That’s Sodom and Gomorrah after the fire fell (Deut. 29:23). Do you know where those queers went when the Lord rained down fire and brimstone on them? The Holy Spirit tells you they are “suffering [present tense] the vengeance of ETERNAL FIRE” (Jude 7)—HELL!

The next thing you need to know about the future of this country is that all the future of history is fixed and certain. The Bible is divided into periods of time in which God deals with men in certain ways. In theology, those are known as “dispensations.” The thing to note about dispensations is that they all end the same way—in apostasy and degeneration. I call that “the law of human collapse.”

Life is like that: it ends in a hole in the ground. Civilizations don’t keep rising; they peak and start declining until they fall.

In that Bible, man begins in a perfect state. He was in an ideal environment. All the animals were his friends. Adam had “Miss Universe” for a wife, and Eve had no competition for the affections of her husband. They didn't have to worry about clothes or sweat or work or a place to live or what to eat or predators or war or sickness. What could be better than that? It's called "paradise," and all the religions and all education and all science and all governments are trying to get you back to that state. Well, that's what man had, and he lost it and went straight to the bottom.

God clothes Adam and Eve, and sends them out of the garden. Their children begin to develop civilization, and what happens? The sons of God come down from outer space and corrupt the whole race except for a handful of people.

And on and on it goes. God drowns the whole lot out except for Noah, and his great grandson Nimrod gets a bunch together in rebellion against God at the Tower of Babel. God calls out Abram, and he lies about his wife; ditto Isaac. Jacob lies to get the blessing. Joseph's brothers sell him into slavery. The Israelites build the golden calf even as God is giving Moses the Ten Commandments.

Man is a failure. Men keep right on killing each other. The problem hasn't been solved in 6,000 years, and the United Nations (our "last, best hope for peace") only picked up the pace (over 177 wars since its founding). "Man" isn't going to solve the problem of war. He can't because there's something intrinsically wrong with him. Men are going to keep right on killing each other until Jesus Christ comes back and enforces His own "Pax Christi" (and I don't mean some international socialistic Catholic organization either).

Every dispensation ends in apostasy. Israel ends up in Egypt as slave labor. They get freed and end up wandering in the wilderness for forty years. God gives them the land, and they turn to idols. God delivers them by judges and finally gives them kings, and those kings eventually lead them into such apostasy and rebellion that the Lord sends in the Assyrians and Nebuchadnezzar to take them into captivity. After seventy years, the Lord brings them back to the land, and those Jews get so cold-hearted and indifferent to the things of God that He won't even speak to them for nearly 400 years.

The New Testament is no different. God sends His Son, and those Jews crucify Him. He sends them the gospel in the book of Acts, and they reject it and persecute the preachers. God blesses the church, and it ends up lukewarm. After a couple of hundred years of technological advances, this world ends up being ruled by the devil (the Tribulation).

Christians are no different in their personal walk with the Lord. You began to backslide the moment you got saved. That's when the Lord reached down and picked you up and gave you a new birth. From there, the natural course is down. That's why you have to read your Bible and pray as a Christian; those are the only things that can combat the natural inclination away from the Lord.

No leader can avoid what God has planned for the nations, no matter how good his intentions. Every once in a while you might get someone in office who wants to do right by this country, but he'll only postpone the inevitable, even if he is able to accomplish some things. That doesn't mean you should give in and let the whole country just go to hell. But you aren't going to turn this nation around no matter what you do. This nation is going to be a part of a one-world global system run by Satan.

Brethren, do you realize that not even the reign of Jesus Christ changes human nature. At the end of the Tribulation, the Lord Jesus returns in power. He defeats the armies of the Antichrist and throws him and the False Prophet into the lake of fire. Then Satan is chained in the bottomless pit for a thousand years and can't bother anybody. The animals are man's friends again, and there is a totally righteous ruler in charge of everything.

Do you know how the millennium ends? It ends with the devil being released from the bottomless pit to gather enough people together to attack Jerusalem. Satan deceives so many people at the end of Christ's reign that their numbers are described "as the sand of the sea" (Rev. 20:8). God has to send fire down and burn them all out.

Things finally get solved, but not until the Lord creates a new heaven and new earth with Him right there personally in His creation. With the Creator there, the universe doesn't need to worry about "entropy" anymore. It has a continuous infusion of energy to keep it running without wearing out.

The next thing about the future of this nation is that before God wipes out a country, He always gives its people plenty of notice before He does it. The thing that distinguishes the Bible from other "religious" books is that the Bible is a history book. It not only gives you history in the past, it gives you history before it takes place. Outside of a lucky guess about a battle, Mohammed couldn't give you one thing original about what would take place in history after he died that he didn't steal from the Bible. He said something about Rome getting back in power in Persia, but that is in Daniel 7–9, written over a thousand years before Mohammed started having his epileptic fits in a cave to get his "revelation." The Lord will not hesitate to prophesy of an historical figure 200–300 years ahead of time and name the person (1 Kings 13:2; Isa. 45:1). Jesus had 48 specific prophecies of His first coming made anywhere from 1,500–400 years before He was born, and every one came through "on the money."

I have a history book that shows me exactly what happens to a nation that lives like America lives. That's why people don't read the Old Testament: it tells how God deals with nations, and they think if they don't read it, it won't happen to them. There's an old saying: "Ignorance of the law (that's what the Old Testament is called—Psa. 19:7; Isa. 5:24; Mal. 2:6; Matt. 5:18) is no excuse."

Bob Jones Sr. used to say, "God won't take from America what He will take from other nations because this nation started with God." Those Pilgrims brought over the Geneva Bible with them on the Mayflower, and one of the members of the crew (John Alden) had a King James Bible. That King James Bible was the first English Bible printed in this country, and was officially recommended by Congress "to the inhabitants of the United States." This country didn't start out under the control of the Catholic Church. God Almighty has given this nation more Bibles, more gospel preaching, more Bible-believing churches, more tracts, more Christian radio stations, more Christian books, etc., than any other nation on this earth. Do you think the Lord's going to put up with a people who step over all that to live like the devil? Jesus Christ said, "For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required" (Luke 12:48). This country has a lot for which to account, and they're going to pay the bill, I kid you not.

The future of a country like America is absolutely fixed, and you can read its "destiny" in Romans 1. Those Gentiles became fools through education and starting messing with evolution (Rom. 1:22–25). They "changed the truth of God into a lie" (Rom. 1:25); they didn't just "exchange" it like the new "Bibles" read. They actually took what God said and changed it so it didn't say anymore what it said. So your educated crowd in Christian colleges and universities and seminaries have changed that Book over 323 times since 1880. Do you know where it has gotten this country? The same place it got those Gentiles in Romans 1—sodomy. In Romans 1:26–27, God Almighty said a nation that commits such things is "worthy of death" (Rom. 1:32). God may have mercy on a nation in this age of grace; He may show longsuffering and give its people a chance to repent. But the sentence hasn't changed. The time of execution is coming.

"Now is the end come upon thee, and I will send mine anger upon thee, and will judge thee according to thy ways, and will recompense upon thee all thine abominations. And mine eye shall not spare thee, neither will I have pity: but I will recompense thy ways upon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the midst of thee: and ye shall know that I am the LORD" (Ezek. 7:3–4).

Now, the rise and fall of nations depends on one decision, and one decision only, and it has never failed. The rise or fall of a nation depends on what it does with that Book (AV 1611). When a nation picks up that Book and reads that Book and believes that Book and follows that Book, it grows mighty. Was America ever a great nation? You say, "Yes." Then it was because of the Book.

But when a nation drops that Book and substitutes newspapers, magazines, and trashy novels for it, when it ignores it and gets it out of its schools and defies it, that nation goes on the decline into ruin. That's what happened to Israel. Those kings were commanded to hand-write a copy of the Torah (the first five books of Moses in the Old Testament) and to read it every day. They didn't do it, so the nation went down, down, down until Nebuchadnezzar came in and tore the whole place up.

There are two verses in the Bible that sum up what every individual and every nation faces in regards to what God said in His Book. One is in the Old Testament, and one is in the New Testament.

Exodus 9:20–21, "He that feared the word of the LORD among the servants of Pharaoh made his servants and his cattle flee into the houses: And he that regarded not the word of the LORD left his servants and his cattle in the field."

Acts 28:24, "And some believed the things which were spoken, and some believed not."

If you came up the way I came up (and thank God if you didn't), you'd know the worth of that Book. For years and years, while my eyesight held up, I read a book a day since I was ten years old. After I got ahold of that Book at age 27, I realized how the rest of the stuff was just nothing at all, and how I could have gotten everything I wanted out of the Book. The stuff that is important to life is in that Book.

The future of this country is fixed, and it is fixed according to what it has done with the Book. In Israel, those Jews listened to the words of men, the words of lying prophets who made up things that God never said (Jer. 23:16), and they ignored what God actually did say. Because of that, the Lord sent in Nebuchadnezzar to haul them away into captivity (Jer. 25:8–9). What the Lord said to those Jews back in 607 B.C. is applicable to Americans today up in the twenty-first century.

"Yet ye have not hearkened unto me, saith the LORD; that ye might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands to your own hurt" (Jer. 25:7).

America has gone against that Book, so the Lord allows the Mexican drug cartels and the Moslem refugees and the foreign troops to come in and wreak havoc, with the end goal of taking over this country. I say allow, but when the end comes, it is not just the Lord allowing it. He calls the enemy in to execute judgment (Jer. 25:29; Ezek. 5:17, 29:8; Lev. 26:25).

Finally, if you are going to make it through the fate of this country, you, as a Christian, have to be judgmental and negative. You have to agree with God's assessment of this nation as given in that Book. You have to judge this country as a bad nation that has grieved God and His Holy Spirit.

Back in Ezekiel 9, when the Lord

was getting ready to judge Jerusalem for its wickedness, He had a fellow go through the city and mark the foreheads of everyone who sighed and cried “for all the abominations that be done” (Ezek. 9:4). When the Lord sent in men to bring His judgment on the place, He told them, “Slay utterly old and young, both maids, and little children, and women: but come not near any man upon whom is the mark” (Ezek. 9:6). That’s the history of God’s people: that’s a Jew writing about the Jews, and what God said to the Jews. And you think He’s going to let America off the hook?

The negative view is the scriptural view. Do you know what Richard Wurmbrand said about what the communists did to the churches when they took over? Wurmbrand said the preachers were allowed to say “God is love,” but they weren’t allowed to say the devil is evil. Those atheists outlawed the negative. That’s what this “purpose-driven,” emergent, and “seeker-sensitive” crowd is doing in the churches over here. Don’t preach on sin or hell; just preach the love of God. All positive; no negative. Your car won’t run unless its battery has a positive pole and a negative pole.

Profession means nothing without action. Of course, you may be so far gone that any action would be futile, but I’ll tell you something you can do: you can protest. Back there in 1 Samuel, those Jews got tired of having to trust God to send a judge to deliver them, and they demanded Samuel give them a king. There was no talking them out of it or turning them from it, so the Lord told Samuel this:

“Now therefore hearken unto their voice: howbeit yet PROTEST solemnly unto them, and shew them the manner of the king that shall reign over them” (1 Sam. 8:9).

You don’t have to sit back and keep your mouth shut. You can let everyone around you know exactly what God thinks about what’s going on. You say, “What good will that do, Ruckman?” It will let them know that you are not a part of their devilment.

That’s what John the Baptist did. He didn’t let Herod’s political position intimidate him. He read Herod the “riot act” and told him it wasn’t lawful for him to marry his brother’s wife (Mark 6:18). You say, “It got his head cut off.” Yeah, but what he did got the commendation of his Lord (Matt. 11:11). John may have lost the battle, but he won the war. Herod’s been dead and in hell for nearly 2,000 years now. John’s waiting up in glory to reign with Christ in His kingdom. Who do you suppose got the better end of that deal?

I want to go on record as being against the devilment going on in this country. I don’t want there to be any doubt as to where I stand, and if it costs me a prison sentence, then I’ll spend some time in the slammer. I will not go along with it, I will not approve of it, and I won’t keep quiet about it. I PROTEST!

Brethren, if there is any God in heaven (and there is no doubt in my mind about it), He is going to clean this country's plow. When He does, I want to be on the side that's weeping over this nation's sins and confessing not only my country's guilt, but my own guilt as well. I want to be on the side protesting the wickedness and standing up for God and His word.

the Pope's favor. When Loyola once met an Arab on the road who told him he did not believe Mary's virginity extended past the birth of Jesus Christ, Loyola thought of killing him and left his answer to a "sign from heaven". When he spurred his mule to go after the Arab and he did not budge, Loyola took that as his sign to let the man live.

The beginning of the Jesuit order in Spain coincided with the French Reformation, which resulted in thousands of souls being saved and immediately leaving the Roman Catholic Church for the truth of the gospel. Spaniard Don Francis Borgia became the third Jesuit General, following Loyola and a Spanish Jew named Diego Laynez, and was responsible for teaming up with Ugo Boncompagni, alias Pope Gregory XIII, to murder over 75,000 French Huguenot believers in the infamous St. Bartholomew's Massacre in 1572. The Jesuit henchmen attacked unarmed civilians as the rivers in France turned red with blood and became choked with the corpses, while thousands of others were imprisoned and enslaved by their Roman captors.

By the time the Jesuits had enthroned their fifth Superior General, Claudius Aquaviva (1581-1615), the popes were to quietly do what they were ordered, or partake of a poisonous drink that became known as "the Borgia cup". Under Aquaviva's tenure, six popes died, including Urban VII after only 12 days of being on the throne, Leo XI, after only 27 days, Innocent IX after 2 months, and Gregory XIV, after 10 months. This complete control over the popes earned the Jesuit Generals the nickname of "The Black Pope", and it was widely known in Rome that the man sitting on Peter's throne took orders from him and was called "The White Pope". In 1769, after just over one hundred and fifty years of this, one man named Carlo della Torre di Rezzonico, alias Pope Clement XIII, convened a committee to examine the demands to abolish the Jesuit order. The day before the committee was to convene, Rezzonico suddenly dropped dead, no doubt from the "Borgia Cup". Lorenzo Ganganelli, alias Pope Clement XIV, was elected by the Cardinals with the promise that he would do something about the Jesuits. In 1773, Ganganelli issued a papal edict that abolished the Jesuit order, declaring that they were "forever extinguished and suppressed". Little did he know that his "forever" of the edict would only last just over forty years, as Napoleon of France imprisoned Giovanni Braschi, alias Pope Pius VI (who died as a prisoner), and Luigi Chiaramonti, alias Pope Pius VII, who had no plans to die as his predecessor in chains. Chiaramonti issued his own "eternal" edict that restored the Jesuits to full power in 1814. This is the same pope who ordered the Jews living in Rome to go back into the ghetto after the fall of Napoleon. Roman Catholics must decide which one of these two opposing papal decrees was the true "infallible" one.

In 1846, Rome elected Giovanni Mastai Ferretti, alias Pope Pius IX (Pio Nono), who would become the longest reigning pope to this present day (1846-1878). This pope had a six-year-old Jewish boy kidnapped after learning that a Roman Catholic babysitter secretly baptized him without the knowledge of his Jewish parents. Roman Catholic doctrine taught that once baptized, that child becomes a Roman Catholic and Edgardo Mortara was taken from his parents and secreted away into Ferretti's papal residence, where the pope adopted him and kept him cloistered. When the grieving parents came pleading for their child's return, the pope told them if they would convert, he would be returned. The parents would not and the self-professed "vicar of Christ" made sure they never saw their boy again, eventually ordaining him as a Catholic priest. This same pope declared the Immaculate Conception of Mary as a dogma of the church in 1854, as well as his own Papal Infallibility in 1870. Pius also reopened the Jewish ghetto in Rome and prevented Jews in Italy from holding jobs. While this pope was ruling in Rome, the Jesuit Superior General

Lorenzo Ricci was making sure that the fledgling country of America would be infiltrated with thousands of Jesuits. One of note was Jesuit priest John Bapst. Exiled from Switzerland to New York City, he moved to Maine and after his request to prohibit public schoolchildren from having to read the King James Bible was denied, he founded Boston College in order to train more Jesuits to sustain the Roman faith in the USA.

In 1914, Giacomo della Chiesa, alias Pope Benedict XV, was elected to the chair in Rome. Keeping in line with Roman Catholic beliefs and history, Benedict fought against the British Balfour Declaration, allowing the Jews their homeland in Israel, claiming that "God wills the Jews do not return". With the Jesuits helping create World War I throughout Europe, this pope was followed by Achille Ratti, alias Pope Pius XI, who signed an agreement with Mussolini in the Lateran Pact, that gave the Roman coffers over ninety million dollars, while the Roman Church allowed Mussolini his dictatorial powers in Italy. Ratti saw the Jews as enemies and publicly scorned them as vermin. In 1939, Eugenio Pacelli, alias Pope Pius XI, took his throne in Rome, after previously signing an agreement with Hitler from his days as papal nuncio in Berlin. Hitler was given free course by the Roman Catholic Church, and her priests were not allowed to say anything against the atrocities against the Jews right in their own backyard. Of course, being a blessing to Abraham's seed has never been a desire of Satan and his church ever since 1800 B.C.

Bringing the Roman harlot into the 21st century was Karol Wojtyla, alias Pope John Paul II, who proceeded to have the second longest reign in the Roman chair, from 1978 to 2005. This world politician repeatedly opened his arms to his Muslim brethren, allowing repeated private audiences with them, even bowing and kissing their Q'uran in a show of respect, while ignoring the Jews. This is in spite of the fact that his "infallible" predecessors sent thousands of Muslims to hell in Crusades that attempted to take the "Holy Land" for "Mother Church". Pope Innocent III in 1216 identified Mohammed as the antichrist, and in 1099, the Roman Catholic crusaders massacred over 40,000 Muslims (men, women and children), while burning Jews alive in their main synagogue in Jerusalem. This is same Pope Innocent who in 1215 said, "the pope holdeth the place on earth, not simply of a man, but of the one true God".

Now, at the last, the Roman harlot has elected a Jesuit for the first time as a pope. Jorge Maria Bergoglio, alias Pope Francis I, has already performed admirably as a Jesuit adapter in bringing the ignorant Jewish community under his wings. He has been lauded by Rabbi David Rosen as "brilliant", possessing a "deep understanding of the Jews". Another Rabbi claimed a "deep religious experience in the presence of the Pope".

The Bible believer understands this only signals the end times. The antichrist will shortly sit down at negotiating table (Daniel 11), to bring peace among all the religions of the Middle East. The Jews will be deceived by the millions, with only a small remnant having the discernment to run and be saved (Romans 9:27 "...Though the number of Israel be as the sand of the sea, a remnant shall be saved:"). Once the "fulness of the Gentiles be come in" (Romans 11:25), the blindness of Israel will be removed to receive their true Messiah, the Lord Jesus Christ (Romans 11:26), but not before the multitudes have lost their lives through the deception of the false Jesuit prophet and his Syrian-Jewish dictator. It is possible that it has never been said any better than in 1968, when the Irish antagonist Ian Paisley said, "Every Jesuit is outwardly a monk, inwardly a serpent and altogether a devil".

The UN 2030 Agenda For World Peace

By Brian Donovan

Please Note: The article printed in the May 2017 issue with this title was actually "The Lord Versus the Kingdoms" and was printed with the correct title in the June issue.

When the Bible believer wants to find truth regarding any subject, he comes to his final authority, the 1611 King James Bible. If he desires to know what is going on in the last days regarding the nations, he looks to the Book. That Book tells him that the desire of the nations (Haggai 2:7) is for peace, and since the antichrist knows this, that is exactly how he gains power, through peace (Daniel 11:21-24). By the time his reign of terror is over after three and one-half years, the nations will be desiring to see just "one of the days of the Son of man", but they "shall not see it" (Luke 17:22).

It is only through the "Prince of Peace" (Isaiah 9:6) coming to Jerusalem and reigning, that mankind will ever see peace (Isaiah 2:2-4). Warfare ends at Jerusalem when the righteous King breaks the arrows, shields, and swords of the warring nations to make His dwelling place in Zion (Psalm 76:1-3). This is the same city of "peace" (Shalom-Salem), that has known nothing but bloodshed with David taking it in 1055 BC from the Jebusites, to Shishak's Invasion from Egypt in 970 BC (I Kings 14:25), to the three invasions of Nebuchadnezzar from Babylon (606, 598, 586 BC), to Alexander of Greece in 332 BC, to Antiochus Epiphanes in 167 BC, to the Romans in 70 AD, to the Saracens in 637 AD, to the Turks in 1076 AD, to the Roman Catholic Crusaders in 1099 AD, to Saladin in 1187 AD, to the Ottoman Turks from 1517 to 1917 AD, to its present day split into the Catholic, Moslem and Jewish quarters, to its soon trodding down by the Gentiles during the tribulation period (Revelation 11:2), to its final destruction by earthquake (Revelation 11:13), until the coming of the King of Kings to take it by force, along with all the kingdoms of this world (Revelation 11:15).

In the meantime, ever since Adam lost his perfect environment of peace in Eden, men have tried to find ways to bring in worldwide peace through bloodshed. Soon after the flood of Noah's day, the lineage of Nimrod, the first kingdom builder (Genesis 10:10), decided they would come together and build a tower to reach heaven without God's help. With the earth of one language and one speech, they imagined great things for themselves (Genesis 11:1-6). The Lord knew what man would try to do when he joined together in a united assembly, so He scattered them through confusion of languages (Genesis 11:7-8). This division took place in the days of Peleg about 2200 BC, and mankind has been after world peace through the bloodshed of war ever since. The greatest of generals in warfare have known that the way to bring peace is to kill your enemies.

The most feared general of the American Civil War (1861-1865) was Nathan Bedford Forrest of Tennessee. His battle plans were not learned in the classrooms of West Point, but in practice. His philosophy was to get there the "firstest with the mostest". When sitting at a campfire with him, another soldier told Forrest that it was a great honor to be in the company of one whose name was on the lips of both sides of the conflict as being "that devil Yankee killer". General Forrest told the man that war meant fighting and fighting meant killing.

After World War I (1914-1918) did not turn out to be as advertised as "the war to end all wars", the nations came together briefly in an aborted attempt for peace through the League of Nations. The world powers faced off again between 1940-1945, ending in fake peace treaties and a fake world court called the United Nations, that in its charter is supposed to be dedicated to world peace. Of course, without the Bible and without the Lord Jesus Christ to rule, that means peace through bloodshed. If there is anything the world court of the UN has successfully done since its inception, it would be to declare wars.

After a meeting in San Francisco in 1945, the UN named its first acting Secretary General to be none other than the American communist, Alger Hiss. Even though backed by Eleanor Roosevelt, who informed her readers that it was "unforgivable" to smear such a good person as Hiss, he was nevertheless convicted of perjury and sentenced to 44 months in prison. This fine man was the first of a group of UN leaders responsible for draining the United States of what now amounts to billions of taxpayer dollars to fund the one world government of the warring "assembly" in New York City. Hiss was followed by the Norwegian Trygve Lie, who imprisoned Trotsky (exiled to Norway at the time) for criticizing Lie's buddy, the murderous Soviet dictator, Joseph Stalin. Lie also became the first of the many UN Secretary Generals to consistently fight against the nation of Israel in her fledgling battle to become a nation. In 1953, Lie was succeeded by Sweden's Dag Hammarskjold, whose knees buckled in his praise of the Chinese communist killer named Chou En-lai, claiming he was the "most superior brain I have met so far in the field of foreign politics". This is the same En-lai, who along with Mao Tse-tung, was responsible for the massacre of between 50-60 million of their own people. Hammarskjold also takes credit for the UN attack on the Congo, in order to turn the place over to the Communists, who renamed it Zaire. After dying in a plane crash in 1961, Hammarskjold was succeeded by another Commie named U Thant from Burma. This "peace loving" clown called for UN sanctions against Rhodesia while at the same time called for an end to sanctions against communist Cuba. In 1966, U Thant said that he could not find a worse case of human rights violations than what was taking place in South Africa. NOT China? NOT Saudi Arabia? NOT the USSR? This Burmese devil found praise for Lenin as one whose ideas for peace fell in line with the UN charter. At least he finally spoke the truth with that line. In 1972, the Roman Catholic Kurt Waldheim took over as the UN Secretary General, not missing a beat in praise for the communist killer Chou En-lai at his death in 1976, as well as saying that the UN should not get involved in the refusal of the North Viet Cong to release a few million of their South Vietnamese captives at the end of the war.

The last three Secretary Generals have been sure to keep the UN record for warfare intact, being especially anti-Israel. Boutros Boutros-Ghali (1992-1996 from Egypt) put all the blame on Israel for the mid-east violence saying, "the Arab world cannot allow itself to recognize Israel..." and reminded the Jews that not only do Egyptians hate the Jews, but the whole Arab peoples hate them. Great ambassador of peace, wouldn't you say? Kofi Anan (1997-2006 from Ghana) participated in the 2005 "International Day of Solidarity with the Palestinian People", as he sat near an Arab map that obliterated the nation of Israel, replacing it with Palestine. This fool was succeeded by Ban Ki Moon (2007 to present from South Korea), who claimed that Palestinian attacks on Israeli citizens were "the result of a half century of Israeli occupation and paralysis of the peace process". Teaming up with the American John Kerry, Moonie condemned Israel's 2014 defensive action against Hamas rocket attacks from Gaza calling it "this atrocious action", and told Israel that they must restrain themselves from further civilian casualties, even though he knew that Israel sent leaflets to the Gaza civilian population to get out before the attack, and instead, Hamas used those civilians as human shields.

Recently, the United Nations has worked out "The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development". The date they "arbitrarily" picked out is interesting, for if the "two days" of Hosea 6:2, begin with the Jews rejection and crucifixion of their Messiah in 33 AD, then the two days before He can revive them are not up until 2033 AD. This would date the ministry of the Antichrist from Passover of 2030 AD to Tabernacles in 2033 AD. The UN agenda for 2030 AD is to control the production of crops to reduce "global waste at the retail and consumer level", grabbing land and even the oceans to control harvesting of crops and seafood. By 2030 AD, they intend on bringing about "gender equality" at all levels including education, jobs, land ownership and freedoms. The doublespeak wording of the 2030 document includes "universal peace...eradicating poverty...to heal and secure our planet", etc. This "universal agenda” is the work of one-worlders who are no more interested in your “peace”, than Adolph Hitler was in the welfare of the Jews. The UN 2030 document claims to “seek to realize the human rights of all”, but the Bible reader already has been told the real goals of these liars (read Isaiah 5:8). Neither Lie, Hammarskjold, Boutros-Ghali, Kofi Anan, or Ban Ki Moon’s words that are “smoother than butter”, can fool the Bible believer, since it is already revealed in the Book that “war was in his heart” (Psalm 55:21). We do not listen to those “which speak peace to their neighbors” for we know that “mischief is in their hearts” (Psalm 28:3).

In the very near future, the men of this organization will be sitting down at a table, discussing a viable peace process with Satan incarnate, the Antichrist (Daniel 11:24). They will then be used as pawns to bring world peace under a man with visible signs and wonders (II Thessalonians 2:9-11) that the Arabs will accept as their anticipated Mahdi, the Jews will accept as their anticipated Messiah, and the Roman Catholics will accept as the second coming of Jesus Christ. The end result will be a peace that is cut off and world war and famine and death like never in the history of the world (Revelation 6:4-17). The Bible prophesies that one-quarter of the world population will be killed (Revelation 6:8), followed by another third after that (Revelation 9:15), meaning at least three billion deaths will take place during the short tribulation period. This “time of Jacob’s trouble” (Jeremiah 30:7) will end with the true Messiah coming to save His people, the Jews (Romans 11:25-27), but not before He gathers the United Nations Assembly together for the slaughter (Joel 3:9-11). The Lord sets up nations and makes them powerful before He brings them down (Job 12:23). The Lord Himself is drawing the nations together under the promise of peace (Jeremiah 6:14), only it will be to their destruction (Zechariah 14:1-4).

The Bible believers are never to unite with this crowd, but instead are to have a “unity of the Spirit” (Ephesians 4:3) and a “unity of the faith” (Ephesians 4:13) with each other as brethren, and that is the only talk of unity for the Christian. The saved soul is “not of the world” (John 15:19) and rather than expecting acceptance, he is to expect “therefore the world hateth you” (John 15:19). The conspiracies of the United Nations and the political governments and the religions of this world are to be noted and testified against (John 7:7). This world cannot program the Bible believing Christian to go along with their plans, so he must be eliminated. Our job is to glorify our Saviour as we walk with Him by faith, and pull as many as we can out of the fire (Jude 23) before that great “day of the Lord” arrives (Isaiah 2:12, Isaiah 13:6, Isaiah 34:7, Revelation 6:17), with the revenge of a holy God.

The Battle For The Mind

By Zack Colvin

“(For the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) Casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ” (2 Cor. 10:4–5).

The battlefield of the mind is an unseen battlefield that is entirely spiritual and, as such, is very seldom recognized by the majority of Christians. Cartoon artists have attempted to illustrate the battle that takes place in the mind by showing a good angel on one shoulder of the cartoon character and the devil on the other shoulder. These two argue over which of them should be obeyed, and they give their reasons for why. This is a very lame way of trying to illustrate the battle that takes place in the mind, but for most people who spend all of their time looking “at the things which are seen” (2 Cor. 4:16), this is the only way they can explain it. But the battle for the thoughts is such an important battle that it determines the outcome of every Christian soldier. Every saved individual is automatically enlisted in the greatest army ever when he's born again, but no Christian moves up in the ranks of the Christian army if he doesn't win the battle for the thoughts. No Christian will win victories over sin, sensuality, and self unless he first wins the fight for his thoughts on the battlefield of his mind.

To win this battle, the Christian must first understand that his own natural mind cannot be trusted. When a soldier enters the army of any particular country, he goes through what is known as “boot camp.” In boot camp, this soldier will undergo very strenuous physical training. His sleep will be limited, his food will be limited, and his “recreational activity” will come to a complete stop. In its place will be a rigorous, seemingly impossible training that will strengthen his body to the best it can possibly be. No soldier wants a fat, lazy slob fighting alongside of him in a real battle, so the training puts them in tip-top physical shape.

But in addition to the hard physical training to which he is exposed comes a transformation of his mind that must take place in order for him to be an effective soldier. When he enters boot camp, he has the mind of a civilian. His thoughts are the same as every other civilian, and that is simply that of hedonism—the idea of living each day with as much pleasure as possible and as little pain as possible. But once that soldier enters boot camp and submits himself to the authority of his drill instructor, this thought process of selfish pleasure is slowly and thoroughly broken down so that when he is eventually on the battlefield, he will no longer trust his own thoughts, desires, and pleasures, but will instead trust and obey his commander. It is not until then that he can be an effective soldier that will win victories on the battlefield.

By now you should see the application. First Corinthians 2:16 says, “For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.”

When you trusted the Lord Jesus Christ as your Saviour, He came to live inside of you (Col. 1:27). So Christ's mind is in you. Does this mean that if you're saved you will automatically think like Jesus Christ? Of course not. No more than a man being simply enlisted in the army automatically makes him think like his commander. There must be a subjection, and there must be a transformation of the mind. This is imperative so that your mind can be trained to distrust your own thoughts and to trust “the mind of Christ,” which will come almost entirely from the scripture.

Second Corinthians 10:5 lists three things that must be brought into subjection if the battle for the mind is to be won: 1. “imagination,” 2. “every high thing,” and 3. “every thought.”

1. “Imaginations”—the imaginations of man's heart have been wicked since sin was conceived in the Garden of Eden (Gen. 6:5, 8:21), and they have become more vile since then. Imaginations are virtual images of the mind that are not real but imagined or made up. The world is infatuated with imaginations like “fantasy sports,” “Virtual reality games,” “reality TV shows” (really just virtual reality), “Facebook” (Facebook is full of imaginations of people who imagine themselves to be more important than they really are, and the result is lies, gossip, and pride of life which I could prove with examples if I had the space in this article). Oops, did I say the world was infatuated with these things? I meant Christians. Christians spend their time with these things, and they wonder why they can't get any victory over their selfishness and depression. You can only spend so much time with unrealistic thoughts for so long before you begin to get depressed. Your imaginations must be brought into subjection.

2. “Every high thing”—this is any proud thought. Any thought that exalts yourself. The Lord hates pride, and the man that fills his mind with proud thoughts cannot begin to be in subjection to “the mind of Christ” within him.

Philippians 2:5 says, “Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.”

What was that mind that was in Christ? It was a mind of “no reputation,” “a servant,” humility, and obedience. Though He was equal with God, there wasn't a proud thought in Him. In contrast, man, being so much lower than God, thinks himself equal with Him. High things in the mind will keep a Christian from winning the battle for the mind and will leave him defenseless as the “king over all the children of pride” (Job 41:34) leads an ambush against his mind. “Every high thing” must be brought into subjection.

3. “Every thought”—this really needs no explanation. It just requires much discipline. So naturally, most Christians won't do it because if it requires work, you can forget it. The Bible shows us that for every action or word there is an intention of the heart, and before there is an intention of the heart, there is a thought of the mind or an imagination of the heart.

“For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he . . .” (Prov. 23:7).

“Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life” (Prov. 4:23).

“For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: All these evil things come from within, and defile the man” (Mark 7:21–23).

So if you can control your thoughts, you can control the intentions of your heart and ultimately control your actions. “Every thought” must be brought into subjection.

Second Corinthians 10:4 says we have some spiritual weapons that are “mighty through God” and are able to pull down the strongholds in your mind so you can get victory on the battlefield of your mind. Christ, as the captain of our salvation, issued us all of the weapons we need when we enlisted, but it's up to the Christian to pick them up, familiarize himself with them, and use them regularly if he ever expects victory. So what are these weapons?

1. The blood of Jesus Christ: The blood of your Saviour has tremendous power to make your thoughts clean when it is applied to the heart and mind. Not only can it give the power to keep the thoughts clean, but it has the power to take your conscience that has been defeated by unclean thoughts of the past and purge it so that you can once again serve the Lord with boldness (Heb. 9:14). The blood of Christ should be pleaded constantly as a weapon in the battle for your thoughts. This is done simply by asking the Lord to cleanse your mind in the blood of Jesus Christ. The Christian who doesn't know the power of Jesus Christ's blood over the mind is a Christian who doesn't plead it. Try it for yourself, and you'll see that it works. I can't explain the details of how it works, but I know from experience that pleading the blood works. And it works every time.

2. The scripture: In Matthew 4, the Lord Jesus Christ was led “of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil” (Matt. 4:1). With all of the power that the Lord Jesus had as God in the flesh, it’s hard to imagine the devil tempting the Lord and the Lord just allowing it. But what happened is the Lord Jesus Christ limited His power as God and as a man allowed Himself to be tempted. And in response to every temptation, He answered, “It is written . . . It is written . . . It is written” (Matt. 4:4, 7, 10). Three times He says it. As a man being tempted of the devil, Jesus quoted scripture and defeated every temptation. If Jesus Christ used the scripture, don’t you think we should?

You may think that simply quoting a verse wouldn’t seem very effective, but you are underestimating the power of the words of God if that is how you think. You must have never tried it, or you would know that God’s words are mighty to pull down strongholds. Memorize verses that are related to the specific battles in your mind, and the next time imaginations, high things, and unclean thoughts rise up, quote those verses and see what happens. Memorization of scripture is probably one of the most underestimated weapons of our warfare, but it’s very effective. Christians have memorized passwords for every one of their social media accounts, but when you ask them if they know scripture related to their life, they fumble all over the place before telling you they have a hard time memorizing verses. Yeah, it’s a serious medical condition called “slothfulness.” It’s similar to carelessness and has a lot of the same symptoms and results. Read Proverbs 24:30-34 to get a good idea of what the results of these conditions are so you aren’t surprised by the outcome.

3. Prayer: In Ephesians 6:18, you find that prayer is to accompany the application of “the whole armour of God” (Eph. 6:13). Much of the battle for your thoughts should be done through prayer long before the thoughts ever come into your mind. Trying to find the strength at the onset of unclean thoughts is a lot harder than praying for the strength ahead of time. Someone very aptly said once, “An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.” Now I understand that sometimes it seems like a thought will come about out of nowhere, and you are forced to immediately respond, but most of the time you’ll find that the thoughts with which you have a problem are ones that beset you often. So you can prepare and fortify your mind ahead of time if you’ll spend some time in prayer over those specific thoughts that have waged war on your mind in the past. Sometimes prayer and fasting together will be necessary to get victory over some thoughts that have been let go for a while, but the work will be worth it to pull down those strong holds before they completely take control of your mind.

4. Righteousness: By this I mean living as right as you possibly can. Once again, in Ephesians 6:14, one of the items in the list of “the whole armour of God” is “the breastplate of righteousness.” So one of the weapons you will need in the battle for your thoughts is to be living as right as you possibly can. If you aren't trying to live right, then you can't expect your thoughts to be right. But if you are doing your best to “Walk in the Spirit,” then you will have strength and confidence to control your thoughts, and you won't “fulfil the lust of the flesh” (Gal. 5:16).

Proverbs 28:1 says, “The wicked flee when no man pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.”

So a wicked man is paranoid and afraid. He lacks confidence and has no courage because of a bad life and a bad conscience. But “the righteous,” on the other hand, “are bold as a lion.” If you are going to get some victories in your thought life, you are going to need all of the boldness you can get, and boldness will come from doing your best to please God.

Joseph, in Genesis 39, is a great example of a young person living right, and because of his desire to please God above anyone else, he had the strength to fight off a very strong temptation that came at him daily for quite some time. Teenagers can live right no matter who's telling them that their wicked living is just a stage through which they go. That's a lie and a trap of Satan to get them hooked on all kinds of sin for the rest of their lives so they don't accomplish anything for God. Joseph said to Potiphar's wife, “how then can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?” (Gen. 39:9). Joseph is an example of a young man who was a real man! Joseph first won some battles in his mind which led him to act right. And because he lived right, he had the boldness to take a stand when the battle of the flesh got really tough.

5. Faith: Ephesians 6:16 says, “Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked.” Many times, these “fiery darts of the wicked” are attacks on the thoughts in your mind. You'll be going along about your day, minding your own business, and WHAM! Out of nowhere comes a thought that broadsides you. Well, the way to quench those darts, according to Paul, is by faith. Putting your trust in what God said in places like 1 Corinthians 10:13; Hebrews 4:15-16; Colossians 3:1-3; Romans 6 (the whole chapter); and many others. These are verses with which Christians should be as familiar as they are with their own birthdate, address, and phone number. What would you think if you asked a grown man or woman to give you his or her information so you could contact that person, and he or she told you, "Well, I don't really know my phone number! I'm not really sure what my address is! My birthdate? I don't know!" You would think the person was nuts! What kind of a person walks around these days and doesn't know that kind of basic information about himself?! But that is the spiritual condition of a lot of Christians. You can't expect to trust what God said and put it to the test if you don't even know what He said!

Now if Paul said these weapons are "mighty through God" and will pull down some strongholds, and you want to get some victory in this battle for the mind, then put no confidence in your flesh, don't trust yourself for one second, and put all of your faith in what God said. You'll find that these weapons can win some battles in your mind. Here is where the problem is, though: most people, especially young people, don't want to clean up their thoughts because it's too much work. But if it seems like a hard task now, wait until your mind has gone unbridled for months or even years, and by then, your thoughts will have made such a stronghold that it will take a miracle of God's mercy to get victory. By then, you will have given in to your thoughts so many times that you won't even pause to consider whether it's right to act on them or not. You will wish you had fought the battle for the mind in your youth. The battle for your mind is not an impossible task no matter how difficult it seems. You can win a victory through Jesus Christ, and you can do it with these weapons. "Now thanks be unto God, which always causeth us to triumph in Christ . . ." (2 Cor. 2:14).

THIS addition to the biblical and historical studies shows the spiritual decline of Israel from the prophets of the Old Testament to the Reformed and orthodox theology of today. At the same time, Dr. Ruckman traces how God has restored Israel to its present political state (and beyond) in fulfillment to His promises to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

Possibly the most unusual book Dr. Ruckman has ever written. The research behind this book is greater than any previous work, with the exception of his two-volume work on church history.

"A while back I ordered Ruckman's Apocalypse. It was lying on my husband's nightstand. I was in the bedroom working when my five-year-old daughter came in, saw the book, and sat on the floor to look at it. She started asking questions. I realized the Holy Spirit was dealing with her. I stopped what I was doing and explained the pictures to her. She didn't want those 'ugly things' messing with her. She wanted to go to Heaven. She asked Jesus to come into her heart."

A Burdensome Stone

By Robert Militello

“Behold, I will make Jerusalem a cup of trembling unto all the people round about” (Zech. 12:2a).

“And in that day will I make Jerusalem a burdensome stone for all people” (Zech. 12:3a).

In our lifetime, the God of Israel has orchestrated a strategy that is designed to make His city the focal point of the world's attention and concern. This process was set in motion on August 29, 1897, 120 years ago. On that day, the First Zionist Congress of Jews, desiring to return to their homeland, was held in Basel, Switzerland. Theodor Herzl, the father of the modern Zionist movement, tried to rally the world's Jews to embrace the need for a Jewish homeland, but found strong opposition among his own people.

The last verse in the Jewish Bible, 2 Chronicles 36:23, was at least stirring in the hearts of some Jews. “Who is there among you of all his people? The LORD his God be with him, and let him go up.” This command is repeated in Ezra 1:3. “Who is there among you of all his people? his God be with him, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of the LORD God of Israel, (he is the God,) which is in Jerusalem.” Notice the Holy Spirit's well-placed rebuke to Moslems and Allah.

On September 3, 1897, Theodor Herzl wrote in his diary, “Were I to sum up the Basel Congress in a word—which I shall guard against pronouncing publicly—it would be this: At Basel, I founded the Jewish State. If I said this out loud today, I would be greeted by universal laughter. In five years perhaps, and certainly in fifty years, everyone will perceive it.”

Remarkable, isn't it? On November 29, 1947, the United Nations General Assembly voted to partition Palestine and so created a Jewish home. Herzl was off by some two months. Suddenly, the Gentile world was introduced to a new kid on the block, and with that, the death certificate for the present world system was drawn up. All that remains is for the Lord Jesus Christ to sign that certificate after destroying the UN army at Armageddon.

Jerusalem, a city without a country (no nation recognizes Jerusalem as the undivided capital of Israel), will require some heavy lifting by the UN to solve the problem as to Jerusalem's title deed. Who owns it: the UN, Israel, the three great faiths that consider it holy, or the Pope of Rome, our modern day Caesar? God said it would be “a burdensome stone,” and that's where we are today. When the church leaves (Tit. 2:13), Jerusalem will be “a cup of trembling.” Satan himself, with the nations behind him, including the USA, will challenge the Lord for the right to receive worship there.

“It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in man. It is better to trust in the LORD than to put confidence in princes” (Psa. 118:8–9).

Four U.S. presidents have had opportunity to secure heaven's blessing for themselves and for their nation. Genesis 12:3 is a promise as sure as the Lord's second coming. “And I will bless them that bless thee” With the stroke of a pen, four men who called themselves "Christian" could have certified Jerusalem as the capital of Israel by moving our embassy out of Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. Why hasn't it been done? Are they afraid of a future Palestinian state?

On June 27, 1967, three weeks after the Six-Day War ended, Israel extended its law and jurisdiction to East Jerusalem. Israeli soldiers paid in blood when, on June 7, they routed the famed Jordanian Arab Legion (trained by Great Britain) and secured the Temple Mount and the old city of Jerusalem. Why should they give back one stone of what they won to either Jordan or the Palestinians? A huge chunk of the western half of our nation was taken from Mexico after the war in 1848. Are we going to return it? Are we going to give back to surviving Indians their ancestral lands?

A recent poll in Israel showed that 74% of Jews there reject the idea of a Palestinian capital in any portion of Jerusalem. Can you blame them? All Palestinian children are taught in school to hate the Israelis. An independent Palestinian state would be a terrorist haven. The UN would like nothing more than to have Israel commit suicide. Israel is a reminder to all the godless world leaders that there is a Book written by Jews long ago that calls men "beasts" (Eccl. 3:18), and that Book says the Jews will run the world (Isa. 60:12). Theodor Herzl probably never imagined that a Jewish homeland would be such an outcast in the family of nations and that the only real friends the Israelis would have would be Bible believers. Thank God many Israelis realize this.

Millions of evangelical Christians went to the polls last November 8 and elected Donald Trump as president. He would not be in the White House today without their votes, and he knows it. One particular pledge that candidate Trump made repeatedly was that if elected, he would move the U.S. embassy in Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. He was clear and unequivocal on this issue. Not all evangelicals voted for Trump because of this promise, but Zionist Christians, such as myself, were anxious to see him redeem his pledge, especially since the last Republican president, George Bush, went back on his word and refused to move the embassy. He pledged to do this if elected when he spoke to a Jewish audience in New York in September 2000. Verily, all men are liars, amen?

Four months later, the governor of Texas went to the White House. In May of 2001, President Bush had an opportunity to redeem his pledge. He failed to do it. He followed the advice of his State Department, the UN, the pope, and the Arab world, and decided that such a move would not be in our best interest. The born-again President Bush maybe never read Genesis 12:3. Too bad! So four months after going back on his word and embarrassing those Jews who supported him, Moslem terrorists slammed planes into the World Trade Center Towers and the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. Fire came down from the sky on two symbols of American power, commerce, and the military. "God is love," so most Christians would never believe that thousands were killed because their president thought it better to have the world's favor than to honor a pledge made to a people obsessed with proclaiming Jerusalem as their undivided capital city. "Whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God" (James 4:4).

Here we are sixteen years after 9/11. Presidents Clinton, Bush "Jr.," and Obama have dealt with the "Burdensome Stone" the same way. Ignoring the will of Congress, which called for our embassy to be moved to Jerusalem 22 years ago (Jerusalem Embassy Act, 1995), three crowd-pleasing politicians sat in the White House and watched the nation pile up trillions in debt, while being "invaded" by millions of illegal immigrants. This was the blessing they procured for our nation while keeping our diplomats in Tel Aviv when they should have been moved to Jerusalem. Obviously, to multiple millions of American voters, our nation was careening downhill and fast.

It was time for a candidate to promise to "Make America Great Again." On election night, he would be called upon to lead America, hopefully, to a brighter future. Donald Trump was sworn in on January 20, 2017, and the "Burdensome Stone" was put in his lap. When the Lord has a mind to do so, He can really ring your bell, amen? Israelis and the Netanyahu government were wild with joy over Trump's victory. Israeli settlers living in Judea and Samaria believed they now had a champion in the White House. Millions of Christians who voted for Trump had smiles on their faces, and I was among them. Arab countries were bewildered. The pope was chagrined. Hillary Clinton supporters were in shock, many experiencing severe mental anguish over the loss of their latter-day "Joan of Arc." So-called journalists working for mainstream media outlets began to spout a narrative that blamed Russia for Trump's victory. Finally, after eight years of being in President Obama's doghouse, Israel had a friend behind the desk in the Oval Office.

"Men's goings are of the LORD; how then can a man then understand his own way?" (Prov. 20:24).

Could President Trump have known what intense pressure he would have to stand up to if he intended to follow through on his promise to move the embassy. I don't think he had a clue. Rudy Giuliani, former New York city mayor, and others around President Trump urged him to follow through early on with his promise to recognize Jerusalem as Israel's capital. Somehow, the voices of those who gave counsel to delay the move and even to reconsider it were beginning to win out. Soon, there appeared reports in the Israeli press that President Trump's son-in-law, Jared Kushner, would be tasked to reinvigorate a peace process between Israel and the Palestinians—a process that went nowhere for years. Jared Kushner is an orthodox Jew, but has strong ties to the liberal Jews of New York City, and they are not Zionists. Last March and April, I made three calls (two to Pensacola and one to Washington, D.C.) to the office of my new congressman, Representative Mike Gaetz, a Republican claiming to be a Christian. I asked his representative to have Representative

Gaetz send a letter to President Trump reminding him of his promise to the Jews.

“Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness: but a faithful man who can find?” (Prov. 20:6).

It was necessary to remind Representative Gaetz that he received thousands of votes from Christians who know the promise of Genesis 12:3. Remember, the first duty of a politician is to get himself/herself reelected. Politicians do not act unless they believe that goal is in danger. I played politics in New York in my unsaved days and discovered early on how feckless were those holding or seeking public office. On my last call to Gaetz's office, I said that I would be calling regularly to find out what the congressman was doing about getting President Trump to redeem his pledge.

Be assured that President Trump knows that he won Florida with its 29 electoral votes only because he received a huge plurality in the Florida Panhandle. This enabled him to offset the large pluralities Hillary Clinton received in south Florida. Donald Trump became President Trump by virtue of the grace of God and nothing more. His skill as a dealmaker and his ability to earn billions as a real estate developer had little to do with his surprise victory. Every time he promised to recognize Jerusalem and move our embassy there, heaven took note. No Bible believer needs to be told how easily one's tongue can create unimaginable problems with unforeseen outcomes.

No Gentile can fully appreciate how much of a hold Jerusalem has on the heart of the Man of Sorrows. To present yourself as a champion of that City of Gold and then seek to placate those who want it to remain divided is to put yourself in God's crosshairs. That's a bad place to be, as President George Bush discovered on September 11, 2001. Might that tragedy not have happened if President Bush had honored his pledge to relocate the U.S. embassy when he had the first opportunity to do so in May of 2001? Faithful Christians are scarce these days.

“A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself: but the simple pass on, and are punished” (Prov. 22:3).

Not long after President Trump took office, he saw one of the key themes of his election strategy go by the boards. He had promised to do away with Obamacare. Every time he made this pledge, his supporters went wild. With a Republican Senate and House of Representatives behind him, this attempt to repeal President Obama's "legacy" would be accomplished, or so one thought. Well, the effort failed, and it became a huge embarrassment to the new president. There were other setbacks not quite as dramatic, but also injurious to the image of the man who said to his supporters, "You'll get tired of us winning so often."

A Christian brother in Brooklyn called me after the Obamacare fiasco to ask me what I thought about it all. What else could I say but to remind him of Genesis 12:3. I said that every day this president drags his feet on the promise he made to the Jews, he risks getting more egg on his face, but don't expect anyone in the White House to figure this thing out. They are all biblical jackasses.

Really, do you think President Bush, now retired to his ranch in Texas, connected 9/11 with his failure to redeem his pledge to the Jews about moving the U.S. embassy? Does anyone around President Trump really understand the consequences of ignoring the promise he made repeatedly to honor Jerusalem? My brother in Christ got the picture immediately and understood just how serious this was. There's a bad storm blowing this way, and unless President Trump acts on his pledge, we are going to have to "shelter in place" like one does when a tornado pops up with hardly any warning.

"If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning" (Psa. 137:5).

I know that is written to Jews, but a Christian ought to know that one day our zip code will be in New Jerusalem, not New York, New Jersey, or New Orleans. President Trump has more Jewish friends than any president ever. He has lived among them and prospered in business with them. His daughter married a Jew and converted to Judaism, and he has three grandchildren being raised Jewish. He knows what Jerusalem means to Jews; I should hope he does. That city that our Lord wept over is first mentioned in Joshua 10:1 and then appears for a total of 814 times in scripture, last appearing in Revelation 21:10. There, in the New Jerusalem, time, as we know it, ends. There will be no clocks in that holy city—eternity cannot be measured. Forever we shall be with Lamb.

Will the president's Jewish friends, especially his ambassador to Israel, David Friedman, press Donald Trump to keep his word? There are many Israelis who have serious concerns about Jared Kushner, the president's son-in-law. These Jews will not go on record, but from what I see in the Jewish press, they are wary of Mr. Kushner's views on how to bring peace to the Mideast. He may have what they call a "Messiah complex," which is naive and dangerous. What also troubles many in Israel is President Trump's open-mindedness to the idea of a Palestinian state. His State Department (heavily pro-Vatican) wants him to think that this is the path to peace in the Mideast. Every student of God's word knows how nutty that idea is.

"Confidence in an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth, and a foot out of joint" (Prov. 25:19).

Which way is this thing going to go? As a Bible believer and a strong supporter of Israel, all the promises made by Donald Trump during the 2016 campaign all go in a basket marked "politics." The only promise that will bring a blessing to our land does not belong in that basket. Recognizing Jerusalem as Israel's undivided capital city goes in a basket marked "courage." With the whole world against you, including a substantial number in your own government, it will take a lot of nerve, what the Jews call "chutzpah," to deliver on this pledge.

Growing up in Brooklyn surrounded by Jews, I learned early on what it meant to have “chutzpah.” This word, derived from the Hebrew hutspha, means audacity, boldness, even insolence. The greatest Jew of all, our Lord Jesus Christ, was not deficient in this category. In a great display of chutzpah, He knocked over the tables of the money changers and whipped some, and froze the temple guards and Jewish elders in their place. He didn't need a poll to tell Him whether or not this was the right thing to do. Politics didn't concern Him at all.

What about our new president? I'm sure he wishes to be a two-term president.

THE CREED OF THE ALEXANDRIAN CULT

1. There is no final authority but God.
2. Since God is a Spirit, there is no final authority that can be seen, heard, read, felt, or handled.
3. Since all books are material, there is no book on this earth that is the final and absolute authority on what is right and what is wrong, what constitutes truth and what constitutes error.
4. There WAS a series of writings one time which, IF they had all been put into a BOOK as soon as they were written the first time, WOULD HAVE constituted an infallible and final authority by which to judge truth and error.
5. However, this series of writings was lost, and the God who inspired them was unable to preserve their content through Bible-believing Christians at Antioch (Syria), where the first Bible teachers were (Acts 13:1), and where the first missionary trip originated (Acts 13:1-52), and where the word “Christian” originated (Acts 11:26).
6. So God chose to ALMOST preserve them through Gnostics and philosophers from Alexandria, Egypt, even though God called His Son OUT of Egypt (Matthew 2), Jacob OUT of Egypt (Genesis 49), Israel OUT of Egypt (Exodus 15), and Joseph's bones OUT of Egypt (Exodus 13).
7. So there are two streams of Bibles. The most accurate—though, of course, there is no final, absolute authority for determining truth and error; it is a matter of “preference”—are the Egyptian translations from Alexandria, Egypt, which are “almost the originals,” although not quite.
8. The most inaccurate translations were those that brought about the German Reformation (Luther, Zwingli, Boehler, Zinzendorf, Spener, et al.) and the worldwide missionary movement of the English-speaking people: the Bible that Sunday, Torrey, Moody, Finney, Spurgeon, Whitefield, Wesley, and Chapman used.
9. But we can “tolerate” these if those who believe in them will “tolerate” US. After all, since there is NO ABSOLUTE AND FINAL AUTHORITY that anyone can read, teach, preach, or handle, the whole thing is a matter of “PREFERENCE.” You may prefer what you prefer, and we will prefer what we prefer. Let us live in peace, and if we cannot agree on anything or everything, let us all agree on one thing: THERE IS NO FINAL, ABSOLUTE, WRITTEN AUTHORITY OF GOD ANYWHERE ON THIS EARTH.

This is the Creed of the Alexandrian Cult.

dent like Obama, Bush, and Clinton before him. The only one who failed to be re-elected since Ronald Reagan became President in 1981 was George Bush "Sr.," whose Secretary of State, James Baker, cursed the Jews and derided Israeli Prime Minister Shamir. Well, Trump cannot win without the overwhelming support of evangelical Christians, and he know this. There is every political reason for him to move the embassy if he expects these voters to support him in 2020 as they did in 2016.

Personally, I hope the church has gone on to be with the Lord by 2020. I know Donald Trump cannot make America great again where it really counts—in the fear of the Lord.

"Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people" (Prov. 14:34).

Our slide into a national moral abyss continues, thanks to cowards in the pulpit and a citizenry that can't bear anything negative. President Trump wasn't elected the nation's pastor, and Christians ought to remember that. Nevertheless, he is in a position that gives him the power to do what three former presidents failed to do since Congress told them, in 1995, to move our embassy to Jerusalem. Every real Christian that has a brain that functions knows God placed him in that position. He puts people in key positions at critical times to accomplish His purposes. Queen Esther is a great example of this, yet Mordecai, her cousin, had to move her to act courageously at a very critical time in her people's history. Is there a Mordecai around Donald Trump ready to challenge him to forego his fear and act decisively in favor of Israel? Jared Kushner, Trump's son-in-law, is not that man.

Fear has so far prevented Donald Trump from carrying out his promise to move the embassy. King Hussein of Jordan and Palestinian President Abbas have warned President Trump of the riots, unrest, and violence that will accompany any attempt to move the U.S. delegation to Jerusalem. Moslems would rather destroy Jerusalem than see it recognized as Israel's capital by the nations of the world. Scripture shows this.

"Remember, O LORD, the children of Edom in the day of Jerusalem; who said, Rase it, rase it, even to the foundation thereof" (Psa. 137:7).

When you make promises to the Jews and refuse to follow through, you put yourself in a very dangerous place. You have failed to take into account the interests of the One who stands by His people.

On May 18th, Jewish republicans were told that the president had decided not to honor his pledge to move the U.S. embassy at this time. This is the biggest mistake he has made in his entire life. He has shown that under pressure, he can fold like a cheap umbrella. Reaction among most Jews could be characterized as profound disappointment. Donald Trump has followed the same advice given to Presidents Clinton, Bush, and Obama. I can only wonder now as to what the Lord will do to show His displeasure with the man that was miraculously given the most powerful position in the world. Wait and see!
